ENGLEWOOD, CO--(May 14, 2009) - BioMedical Technology Solutions Holdings, Inc. (OTCBB: BMTL) is pleased to announce the signing of a multinational distribution partnership with Novismed Corporation (Miami, Florida) for the broadscale sale and distribution of the Demolizer II System in Central and Latin America and the Caribbean.

Novismed Corporation was founded by Luis and Elena Martinez in 2007, building on over 25 years of business and cultural experience in the international medical device and supply industries. Novismed has established long-term seasoned partnerships with key distributors in Central America, Latin America and the Caribbean with expansive coverage in over 15 countries including very large markets such as Mexico, Chile, the Caribbean and Argentina.

"The Demolizer II System represents a great opportunity for Novismed and we are very excited about this long term partnership with BMTS. With the increased focus on the environmental and public health impacts of medical waste in the Caribbean, we expect to realize early sales in the Caribbean Healthcare market," said Luis Martinez, Novismed Corporation Founder and General Manager.

Further stating, "We have been working closely with the Puerto Rican and Chilean environmental agencies with regard to the adverse impacts of medical waste incineration. The Demolizer II represents an excellent alternative to incineration and is a great fit with the initiatives in these important markets."

"This is an important milestone for BMTS and Novismed Corporation," said Don Cox, President and CEO of BMTS Holdings, Inc., further stating, "We have had our technology in the Bahamas since 2007. We also met with the Ministry of Health for Trinidad and Tobago in 2008 to introduce the Demolizer technology and explore environmentally responsible means for managing infectious waste. We feel Novismed's long history and understanding of the needs and the culture throughout these large and very unique markets will greatly accelerate the adoption of the Demolizer technology. Many of these countries currently rely heavily on incineration or landfilling of untreated medical waste and are looking for safer and more environmentally responsible alternatives. Novismed Corporation, with its proven leadership and extensive networks, has the capabilities to introduce the Demolizer II technology to Central and Latin America and the Caribbean healthcare markets on a broad scale."
